Alva: Lee County's Sixth Historic District?

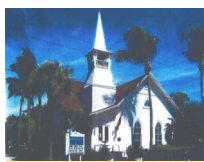

Lee County has five designated Historic Districts, none of which contain the oldest settlement in Lee County and the site of the first bridge across the Caloosahatchee River - Alva. The property owners, the communities, and the county at large have benefited from designation of Boca Grande, Bokeelia, Burgess Island, Pineland and Matlacha as Historic Districts.

Perhaps it is time to shield and enrich Alva in the same manner, thereby opening the door for possibilities of financial assistance, tax benefits and value increases to property owners. Consider the benefits and come to the monthly meeting to discuss.
